1. Sufficiency of Company's Capital Fund

Policy / Objective

The Company holds capital higher than the requirement of Office of Insurance Commission (OIC) to ensure the insured's ability to pay claims, which is the first priority of the insured especially for Capital Adequacy Ratio (CAR) as an effective indicator that reflects the company's financial strength.

Capital Fund Management and Sufficiency Evaluation

The Company intends to maintain the Capital Adequacy Ratio (CAR) higher than the requirement of the OIC. The Company's existing capital and capital required fund must be managed is reasonable proportion by which the existing fund is high due to the Company has more assets than liabilities. The Company has a strict risk management on Risk-Based Capital to maintain the capital required in an appropriate level resulting the Capital Adequacy Ratio (CAR) being in line with the target.

Moreover, The Company has a Stress test according to the OIC's requirement for negative situations that significantly affect the CAR. For the test result, the Company still has a higher ratio than required by the OIC. The company has set guidelines for maintaining its financial position and sufficient liquidity to cope with the crisis, such as major floods and downgraded reinsurers.
